—The Loss on the Building.

A negro rushed into the bar-room of the Garden Theater at Fourteenth and Chestnut streets at 4:35 o'clock this morning and told the bartender and Thomas Bryson that the place was on fire. Bryson ran upstairs and began to awaken the inmates. A panic ensued. Women jumped from the windows of the burning building, and men crowded their way down the stairway. Joseph H. Shaw, a waiter, aged 19 years, who was sleeping in the rear of the building, was suffocated and his body was burned to a crisp. Instead of following the others who were sleeping in the rooms, he tried to find the stairway, and was overcome by the smoke. The firemen when they arrived stumbled over his body, thinking that it was a piece of wood, and it was only after the fire had been almost extinguished that it was learned that one life had been lost.

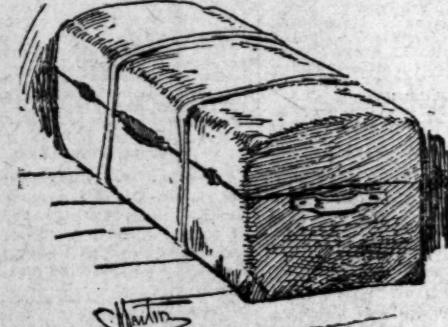

The proprietor, H. Lundberg, and his aged mother and a half dozen attaches of the place were in the building when the fire broke out. Walter Wise and wife, William Stewart and wife and Billy Porter were compelled to jump from the second story window to save their lives.

The building, owned by W. W. Charles, was damaged to the extent of $7,500. Charles' insurance is ample, Low & Law's agency is $6,000. Lundberg's loss on the contents, consisting of furniture and theatrical appliances, amounts to $4,500. He has no insurance whatever.

An old trunk containing $8,468 in currency was carried from the burning building just in time to save it. It belonged to Arabella Lundberg, who refused to leave the building until the trunk was taken out.

BRYSON'S EXPERIENCE.

Thomas Bryson, the bartender who first gave the alarm, had a thrilling experience in his efforts to arouse the sleeping inmates.

The Treasure Trunk.

When he first entered the theater he found the second story in a blaze and the flames rapidly spreading throughout the entire building. The room was filled with a dense suffocating smoke and it was almost impossible to see a foot in advance. Seeing at a glance that the fire had already gained too much headway to permit it being extinguished without the aid of the Fire Department, Bryson, without hesitating an instant, dashed up the stairs in the rounds of the room twice, and succeeded in awakening all the lodgers, and warning them of the danger with which they were threatened.

In the meantime Munnally had run into the street, yelling "fire" which attracted the police to the scene.

It would be interesting to know just what Caprivi thinks of the Kaiser's new song.

THE British House of Lords is in a bad way. It must find a reason for its existence.

THE issue in the last congressional election was the knocking out of McKinleyism, and the issue in this is the keeping it out.

ITALY has run behind $15,000,000 during the year, but the United States had run behind $50,000,000 when Mr. Harrison went out.

EUROPE is filled with the suspicion that the brash young Emperor of Germany is gradually working down to a figure-head chancellor.

It is all very well for the papers of his party to jolly Mr. Reed with talk of his restoration to the Speakership, but Mr. Reed wants to go higher than that.

THE fraudulent registration in Philadelphia is inexcusable. Pennsylvania is not a close State. Committing crimes for the mere pleasure of committing them is great folly.

THE fact that the consumers of woolen goods save $163,584,000 by the new tariff law should be worth a good many voters to tariff reformers at ordinary protection for votes.

WHILE Senator Hill gets no word from Grover, Adlai is cheering him up and predicting victory. For a man with presidential aspirations of his own, Adlai is truly magnanimous.

IF Mr. Morton, when Minister to France, looked to the interests of Morton, Bliss & Co., it was natural enough. Why should not the "business" idea be carried out by our diplomats as well as by our Senators?

THE $163,000,000 saved to consumers of woolen goods by the new tariff law is more convincing to thoughtful people than a bookful of campaign speeches showing why we should continually increase our taxes.

THE Philadelphia grocers' combine to keep up the price of sugar is also going to pieces. This is very bad for the campaign howlers who have been preaching costlier sugar. Things appear to be coming the consumer's way this year.

IT is very ungrateful in any member of the G. O. P. to suspect Steve Elkins of using his own benefit campaign funds collected from manufacturers. Would it not be to the interest of the contributors to have Mr. Elkins in the Senate?

THE cheap barrel of flour and the dear loaf of bread continue to draw public attention. The Agricultural Department is remarking that the price of bread and the size of the loaf are practically the same now as when flour cost twice as much.

WHEN Mr. Reed said all frauds in elections must be stopped he may have meant all Democratic frauds. His party in Philadelphia does not wish to be disturbed just now, and there are other localities in which it is getting in some peculiar election work.

MR. WANAMAKER called on Mr. McKinley in Philadelphia and it is to be hoped that a proper apology was offered the high tariff leader for the disastrous advertisement of cheap blankets which has been appearing in Mr. Wanamaker's home papers.

A LINE of whalebacks, to ply between Pittsburgh and New Orleans, and touch at all important points on the Ohio and Mississippi, is to be built at Pittsburgh. These boats may give new life to our river commerce, which has suffered so much from railroad competition.

THE report of the Agricultural Department on the cost of bread supplies strong evidence in support of the cheaper bread campaign which the Post-Dispatch inaugurated in this city. The report shows that the present price of bread is out of all proportion to the cost of material and labor. While both have been reduced the baker or the middle-men keep the difference and take enormous profits from the pockets of the people.

THOSE in his party who have declared Levi Morton to be too old for the Presidency should have their attention called to the fact that the man just selected for Chancellor by the German Emperor is 74 years old. Besides, Mr. Platt would no doubt kindly volunteer to relieve Mr. Morton of the most arduous of all the tasks of an American President—that of meeting the great hordes of hungry office-seekers and providing for them.

ABOUT fifty years ago there came to St. Louis quite a colony of Germans, whose sterling qualities, broad views and general characteristics have ever since given tone and dignity to German society and business reputation to this city. Angelrodel, Adolphus Meier, Schublenberg, Herschberg, Palm, Drs. Fuhr, Engelmann and Wissenszus belonged to the set. It is enough to say of William Boeckeler, who has just died in Germany, that he was one of these good and leading men.

THE LAKE FUND BALANCE.

From the manner in which some of our contemporaries are spreading themselves on the subject, it would appear that the Lindell Railroad Co. is afraid that the unexpected balance of the Post-Dispatch Lake Fund will be expended in giving work to the unemployed on some rival boasting lake in some other park where the attraction cannot pour money into the Lindell's coffers.

To satisfy its curiosity we can assure it, once for all, that every dollar remaining in the hands of the Post-Dispatch, to be expended in giving public work of a popular and valuable kind to the unemployed, as the Post-Dispatch promised the contributors every dollar should be used.

Not a dollar will be turned over to the city's park fund to pay for ordinary park improvements. Not a dollar will go to contractors for ornamenting the lake with marble porticos and monuments or for laying granite sidewalks from the Lindell Station to and around the lake. Not a dollar was contributed for any such purposes.

When the excavation of the lake was finished and accepted in accordance with plans and specifications demanded of the Board of Public Improvements by the Lindell and made out by its own engineer that road had no further claims on what remained of the money contributed to give work to the unemployed.

The Post-Dispatch published the names of the contributors, and the amount of the unexpended balance, and publicly holds itself responsible for the expenditure of that balance according to their intent and wish. They gave the money in trust to the Post-Dispatch for a specified benevolent purpose, and nobody else has any right to change the original destination of the fund or can relieve the Post-Dispatch from its responsibility to them.

APPALING RECKLESSNESS.

The report of the Comptroller shows that the street railroads paid into the City Treasury last year on account of franchises only $29,550, of which one road paid $10,000.

This sum of the city's revenue from street railway franchises is a little more than half the amount realized from vehicle licenses, is only $4,000 more than the meat shop proprietors pay for the privilege of selling meat and is less than one-tenth of the sum paid by the merchants and manufacturers for the privilege of doing business and maintaining the industries and commerce of St. Louis. But the revenue from this source must be reduced by the subtraction of the amount paid by the city to the street railroads for the car fare of the various departments, the total of which is $3,145,30, which brings the net revenue to $26,407.40.

This pitiful sum is all that the city realizes from franchises which represent millions of dollars in unearned profits to the railroads owning them. Not even the free use of the railways for city business has been reserved. Comparing this with the possible revenue which could have been obtained from the sale of franchises the recklessness and corruption shown by the report is appalling.

CONGRESSIONAL ELECTIONS.

The return of a Republican majority to the House of Representatives would give solid comfort to those who contend that a Democracy cannot be trusted at all times to give fair judgment, but is subject to the influence of irrational sentiment and blind passion.

MR. MCKINLEY wittily suggests a joint debate on the tariff between Hill and Murphy, but he will take care never to suggest, wittily or otherwise, a joint debate between a tariff reform leader and himself.

BRITAIN'S Grand Old man can see again, but his eye is not turned toward the leadership of his party. Rosebery, however, is doing remarkably well, and may yet show his country another grand old man.

THE most amazing feature of protection is the Standard Oil Co.'s apprehension of being ruined by foreign competition. Mr. Rockefeler's vision of the poor-house must be peculiarly distressing.

MR. SLOPSKY's appointment enables Chief Eagle Houston to see his political duties clearer the city may be greatly benefited. Adlai has often made political leaders wiser.

AMERICAN legislators are wondering how New Zealand laws can be made when the legislative bar has been abolished and speeches are cut off at the end of ten minutes.

THE matter of the House of Lords' will add greatly to the interest of British politics. Mr. Bull's Senate and our own both need the attention of the people.

LILLIAN RUSSELL is not likely to be married again while the world is talking about the Alix wedding. It would be highly injurious advertising.

NOW, WELCOME Thomas, to the West comely cross! But from thy theorist, Good Lord deliver us!

Was Proven Innocent.

CHARLESTON, Mo., Oct. 26.—Miss Jessie Turner, who attempted suicide Saturday, as mentioned in the Post-Dispatch, was arrested with her two sons, June 26, for robbing the Post-office on New Franklin. She was tried and proven innocent, but her two companions were given two-year sentences.

To rebuke the Democratic majority in the House for the shortcomings of the Senate and Mr. Cleveland's Attorney-General would be a most irrational and unjust proceeding. To return a Republican majority to the House would be to sap the body which has stood by party pledges and has paid respect to the expressed will of the people. It would result in the undoing of the work so far done in accordance with the popular mandate.

The obstruction to honest legislation and enforcement of the law has been caused by elements which the House has opposed and which represent the Republicanism condemned by the people. Enlightened judgment urges the endorsement of the House majority and a rebuke of the forces which have opposed its course. The trust combine in the Senate would have good reason to view the defeat of the Democrats in the Congressional election as a popular endorsement of their treachery.

RIVER POLLUTION.

Health Commissioner Homan touches upon a subject of paramount importance in his report concerning the purity of our water supply. His suggestions as to the perils of impure water and the means of guarding against unwholesome elements are all worthy of attention.

But of especial interest and pertinence are his recommendations with regard to steps that should be taken to prevent the pollution of the Mississippi River by the Chicago drainage canal. The Post-Dispatch has given the public full information of that enterprise, its object, scope and possible results. In the opinion of competent authorities that work is a menace to St. Louis and all the cities drawing their water supply from the Illinois River or the Mississippi below it. While there is no occasion for great alarm there is justification for Dr. Homan's remark that the peril cannot be longer ignored, and cause for vigorous measures of protection.

But the interests involved are not those of St. Louis alone, but of many cities, a vast territory and an enormous population located in several States. Each city subject to the menace of this canal is profoundly interested and must take local protective measures, but there is a common purpose to be gained. The subject must be carried from an interstate and national standpoint and there is wisdom in Homan's suggestion of an appeal to Congress for a commission to investigate the subject of the pollution of rivers. The great rivers are the concern of Congress, and their purity should be preserved by Federal laws which will protect the citizens of all States from dangers of stream pollution. The matter is beyond the control of local authorities and is properly the subject of Federal investigation and action. It is one which the growth of population renders more and more important.

A good vaudville bill, headed court at the Standard yesterday, surrounded by his couriers and jesters, Albinus himself was the star of the entertainment. His tricks were as clever as ever. The egg trick, with which he had dexterously and imitation for years, the audience positively falling wide. The magic goes right into the heart of the audience and when there isn't it there is an egg in it and then there isn't. It is a good trick and Albinus has a mystery. Albinus said to sleep with that bag, and numerous enterprising newspaper boys, who have been to the Standard and are trying to get him drunk enough to get it away from him, but always without success.

Among the other attractions of the bill were the audience participation of Mr. O'Brien and Buckley, musical comedian; Kenzo Kaneko, the Japanese juggler; Bill and Hallard, trapeze artists, and many others.

AT THE THEATERS.

Barney Ferguson at the Hagan—Two Openings To-Night.

The popularity of Barney Ferguson was never demonstrated better than yesterday at the Hagan, where he presented his new piece, "Duffy's Blunders," to afternoon evening audiences. The main act was a big house, but at night every seat was sold and standing room was at a premium. Hundreds of people were actually turned away. When the house was full the manager, in Barney's own words, he has surrounded himself with, "Duffy's Blunders," would not amount to much, but as it was built for the purpose of allowing specialty artists to display their talents, it may be called a success. All of the company are away above the average, and while much that they say and do is not exactly original, the manner of presenting it is.

Marguerite Ferguson's dancing was grace and disclosed surprising suppleness.

Col. Lewis' "Boys" had a perfect curtain in the audience. It was a clever piece of character impersonation. Miss Stewart sang several other songs, which were well received, and she did not dispense with her make-up as the sporty young man. May Montford and Edna Terry were well received and good fun.

Col. Lewis' "Lovers" is called a vaudville farce, and people who like this sort of entertainment will be pleased with it.

MIDLAND PACIFIC.

Projected Railroad Which Will Be a Great Transcontinental Line.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—Maj. George B. Hibbard of this city, who has recently returned from an extensive trip around the Northwest and northern portion of the Pacific coast, was last night by a reporter. One of the most important pieces of news that he brings was of the proposed new Midland Pacific railroad over the route of which he traveled for the especial purpose of getting a knowledge of that section of the country, in order to make a report thereon to Canadian and foreign capitalists to induce them to invest the money that they should be satisfied of its feasibility. Maj. Hibbard is now able to say that the capital of Canadian and foreign is not yet invested, but that he has been able to enter into contract with United States Senator Pettigrew of South Dakota for the building of the Midland Pacific, from the mouth of the Missouri to the Pacific, to be built in two years.

The success is thus assured of what will undoubtedly be the most important transcontinental route. Asked if the construction of the road was to be undertaken at an early date, he replied, "Yes, in the fall of this year, the first section, extending from Sioux Falls to the coal fields of Wyoming, about 300 miles, will be built in the spring of 1895.

The second section, which is expected to be completed in 1896, will run from Sioux Falls to the Pacific, a distance of some 1,600 miles. The success is thus assured of what will undoubtedly be the most important transcontinental route. Asked if the construction of the road was to be undertaken at an early date, he replied, "Yes, in the fall of this year, the first section, extending from Sioux Falls to the coal fields of Wyoming, about 300 miles, will be built in the spring of 1895.

The third section, which is expected to be completed in 1897, will run from the Pacific to the Atlantic, and will be built in two years.

The fourth section, which is expected to be completed in 1898, will run from the Atlantic to the Gulf of Mexico, a distance of 1,000 miles.

The fifth section, which is expected to be completed in 1899, will run from the Gulf of Mexico to the Pacific, a distance of 1,000 miles.

The total length of the road will be 3,600 miles.

At a similar rate of construction, a man weighing 160 pounds would require a fast steer for breakfast, a steer and five sheep for dinner, and for supper two bullocks.

The first section, which is expected to be completed in 1895, will be built in two years, and will suffice for the twenty-four hours; so, when fully built, he would have to wait before retiring, he would call for and consume nearly four barrels of fresh fish.

Voracious Spiders.

Sir John Lubbock caught a large garden spider, weighed it very carefully, and then closely observed its eating habits and the amount of food the creature consumed. In a glass jar he placed a small mouse.

In a similar jar of the same size, a man weighing 160 pounds would require a fast steer for breakfast, a steer and five sheep for dinner, and for supper two bullocks.

The first section, which is expected to be completed in 1895, will be built in two years, and will suffice for the twenty-four hours; so, when fully built, he would have to wait before retiring, he would call for and consume nearly four barrels of fresh fish.

Wild Geese Count Two.

Seabourne gunners had the wild geese count two, but not the three. It is customary in preparing to shoot wild geese from a blind or some detached ribbon of marsh for three men to row over to the station together, and for two of them to return to the mainland. The geese being unable to fly, the gunners will shoot them with a gun.

Interesting Incidental Sketches of the Daily Work of Newswriting.

ONCE A YEAR.—A young negro, a witness in a summons case in the First District Police Court, created considerable amusement when under cross-examination. His sobriety was questioned.

"Were you drunk that night?" asked the attorney for the defense.

"No, sir! My mother don't let me get drunk."

"Have you never been drunk?"

"Only once once a year, your honor, and that's every Christmas."

"How many times?"

"About 100, I think."

In His Annual Report He Scores Dishonest Agents and Attorneys.

THE UNWORTHY ARE THOSE WHO ARE MOST GLAMOROUS.

Honest Soldiers Who Really Deserve Pensions Are, in the Main, Modestly and Are Forced Into the Background by the Bountiful Jumpers, Cowards and Deserters—Perjury, Forgery and Every Species of Fraud Employed.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 27.—The re-argument of the Long pension case in the District of Columbia does not awaken very much interest. Commissioner Lochren is confident that the same opinion, as arrived at before, will be reached. In his annual report the Commissioner reviews the Long case at some length, which he says:

"This case has attracted wide attention because of the fact that the pensioner is one of the Judges of the Supreme Court of Michigan, and has upon the rostrum and through the press unflinchingly denounced the bureau and myself for alleged arbitrary and illegal proceedings in the reduction of his pension, and because of the suits instigated by him in this District against myself to prevent such reductions."

After reviewing the proceedings in the case Commissioner Lochren further says:

"It is quite clear that under honest but mistaken interpretation of the pension laws by prior commissioners this pensioner has obtained from the treasury more than $7,000 to which he was never lawfully entitled. Should he make good his assertion that he will take this case for decision to the Supreme Court of the United States he may, when it shall be finally decided, consider the propriety of returning this money to the Treasury."

In the report the Commissioner discusses the work of special examiners, which has been criticised in Congress and elsewhere. He says:

"The report of the Chief of the division exhibits the character and importance of its work. Cases which appear to have merit, but on which the claimant is not entitled to obtain essential evidence, are, with the information given, referred to the examiners as the bureau can obtain, placed in the hands of special examiners, who are often able to discover and obtain evidence necessary to prove the claims. The larger part of the force is always kept employed on this class of work. But the Special Examination Division, aided as it is by the Law Division, constitutes the main protection which the Government has against fraud and imposition. Most of the pension attorneys and claim agents are capable and honorable, but some among them are the most dishonest and unscrupulous of mere dealing in trifles in perjury, forgery and every species of fraud. Without special examiners the villainy of the pension bureau would be checked by fear of detection and be generally successful. It is too often successful now in spite of all safeguards. Such men attract the unscrupulous, such men attract the cowards, deserters and the fraudulent mailers."

"Many of their crimes are discovered, their frauds in most cases overthrown and themselves and their guilty confederates brought to punishment by the work of special examiners and others. The worthy and deserving soldiers are still modest in the face of the unscrupulous and dishonest, who otherwise be universally manifested for the duration of their service. They crowd themselves to the front at soldierly gatherings with resolutions for the protection of the poor, the aged, every regulation to the intent of saving them from every indignity and fraud as 'unfriendly to the public.' Their baser and more ignoble detestations of their superiors made them unscrupulous and dishonest, or discover fraud shamelessly proclaimed, or do much to lower the reputation of the bureau, otherwise be universally manifested for the duration of their service. It has been reported that the attempt to discover fraud is a new movement, and one which has given a new direction to which I am not fully entitled."

The Commissioner then copies extract from report of the examiners since 1870 to show that the utmost care is taken to prevent fraudulent pensions, after which he adds:

"I have selected these extracts from the reports of the earlier commissioners since the Civil War to show that special examinations, fraudulent claimants, dishonest claim agents and the practice of giving pensions to unworthy persons, from the time of the Civil War, have all existed in the past. But in those early days the frauds in pension can not be found in the number of fraudulent and illegal pensions, and all manner of fraud and illegal pensions, considered for a time with the knowledge of the officers of this bureau, who, because of that provision, were rendered powerless to prevent it."

ASKS AN INCREASE.

Not Enough Men in the United States Marine Corps.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 28.—Col. Chas. Heywood, commandant of the United States Marine Corps, in his annual report to the Secretary of the Navy, ask for an increase for the corps. He says that by keeping the number of men up to the legal allowance last year the service was not able to keep up with the men and in consequence the number of desertions was very materially decreased.

Heywood's statement is satisfied that desertions in the marine corps were caused in a large measure by the hard work the men were called upon to perform. Last year they were called upon to perform guard duty, which was a great relief from the severity of the "day on and day off" to which they had been accustomed. Still, the men are never less than five days off guard, this hard duty and is too much of a tax on the physical endurance of the men and probably the best results there should be an increase in the number of privates. The demand increases every day both on shore and abroad, and the marine corps vessel, which will soon be placed in commission.

The commandant strongly recommends an appropriation for barracks at Shreveport, La., and the purchase of a service rendered by his corps as guards at the World's Fair, and particularly in California during the strike and other officers, and says:

"It is most gratifying to me to know that the marines have again proved the fidelity and courage of the men in the performance of any kind of work assigned them. My thanks are due and heartily tendered to all the officers and men composing it, and especially to Maj. Pope, who so ably commanded and made possible this unusual and strict attention to duty such excellent results."

SWINDLED MILLINERS.

The Scheme Worked in New York by Millie Harrowitz.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—After a search of over a month, high and low, Inspector McLaughlin's men have at last caught the pretty and plausible young woman who has been swindling so many milliners in the two cities. The girl is Millie Harrowitz, and she lives in Harlem. She was identified by several of her victims at police headquarters last night, after which she broke down and confessed. Her plan was bold, but simple. She drove to a hotel, engaged a room for herself and "grandma," saying "grandma" would soon appear. She then went to get the big bill from the mythical grandma, herself up the other room into the hall and left the hotel never to return.

ORIENTAL PIRATES.

Mississippi River Virtually in Possession of Chinese Brigands.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Oct. 29.—Chinese pirates received by steamer contain accounts of numerous outrages by bandits and pirates in the Orient. A band of men made desperate by the loss of crops and homes in the recent overthrow of the Liao River, have established a reign of terror. This band consists of about 200 armed men. By these raiders they have secured several boats with which they carry on operations on the water.

During three weeks of the raids of this lawless band twenty men were killed and more than a dozen others were wounded by them. Their operations cover a distance of nearly 100 miles along the Mississippi River.

Chinese protection boats now travel in batches, and so powerful have the robbers become that they do not hesitate to attack ships of boats at the same time, even in daylight. The pirates are said to be well armed with primitive craft having a crew of forty armed men and two or three guns.

Two or three boats were taken, two sailors were killed and two others were wounded.

Two or three boats are arming their crews and preparing to resist the pirates.

Now comes the tale of the robbery of a Chinese coasting vessel bound from Singapore for the island of Lulang, by a band of pirates. A number of them took passage on board, and when the vessel reached the coast of Malaya, the pirates and robbers took up about $100 in cash.

The pirates made a round trip around the coast of Malaya and were captured by the Malays.

They were taken to the island of Lulang and thrown overboard. The Malays jumped into the water and escaped.

PRICES OF COAL.

Wall Street is Puzzled to Know Why Anthracite Companies Advanced Prices.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—Henry Clay says that one of the controlling influences in the stock market during the past week was the action of the anthracite coal companies in advancing the price of coal to 20 cents above the present official schedule. Wall street, he says, is puzzled to explain how, with an existing over-supply and increased production of operators, in the face of diminished demand, in view of the advance in prices of kind of coal, the anthracite companies advanced prices.

Armed with this information, accompanied by Detective Simons, representatives of the anthracite companies advanced prices.

Armed with this information, and a son of John's eye, member of the Board of Education, shot and killed John J. Grimm, a neighbor and former friend. Grimm was unduly fond of his wife. Mrs. Meyer, who had heard Grimm make threats, followed her husband through the rear yard as he was leaving the house and was pleading with him to return home. Just as he reached the rear gate Grimm sprang from behind a shed and exclaimed: "Now, Meyer, I've got you."

At the same time he leveled the revolver at Meyer. She ran to the right and the two men just as Grimm fired, received the bullet in the right arm, saving her husband's life. The men then stopped and fought over the gun. Grimm was shot in the ground mortally wounded. Two of the bullets pierced his heart. Meyer escaped and is now locked up on the charge of murder.

Among Grimm's effects was found an anonymous letter warning him of his wife's conduct and intimacy with Meyer. This note is presumably responsible for the tragedy.

BEHIND THE GRATES.

Arrest of Frank Klein and Otto Savage, Pacific Express Robbers.

THEY SECURED ABOUT $14,000 AT THE DALLES ON OCT. 1.

An Iron Bar Left by the Thieves the Only Clew Upon Which the Detectives Could Work—Confession of the Men and Finding of the Money—Crime News.

THE DALLES, Ore., Oct. 29.—After two weeks' unsuccessful endeavor on the part of detectives and local officers the parties who robbed the Pacific Express Co. in this city of $18,000 on Oct. 1 have been apprehended and placed under arrest, and all but $300 of the money recovered. Frank Klein and Otto Savage, young men of respectable parents, living here, are in jail, having made a complete confession of the theft. Many details were followed by the detective, but all proved fruitless until Sheriff Driver made the suggestion that possibly Klein and Savage were living in idleness about town, and who once belonged to what is known locally as the Hawkhorne gang of desperados, might be implicated. It was reported that the young men were separated from the gang on account of a disagreement as to the plan for robbing a Union Pacific train at a point between here and Portland.

Shortly after separating Hawkhorne and his pals robbed a store here of a lot of guns, pistols and ammunition, and left for their rendezvous near Mount Hood. It is said the only clew to the robbers was a bar of steel, sharpened at one end and fashioned into a hook at the other, which they left and which was found beside the empty treasure box on the floor of the express office on the morning of the robbery.

Out of respect to him it will be served in doors of different styles. The guests will be entertained in the style of the animals.

DANIEL RYAN'S BODY.

Friends Trying to Obtain It From a Medical College.

The friends of Daniel Ryan, a laborer, who died several days ago at the City Hospital and whose body was consigned to the Beaumont Medical College for dissection by the anatomical board, are making strenuous efforts to regain possession of the dead body, in order to give it a Christian burial. A number of the dead man's friends called at the mortuary clerk's office during the morning and informed Dr. Karges that when they demanded the body, he told them that the medical authorities, the men in charge there showed them a body which they claimed to be Ryan's and offered to deliver it to them. Friends of Ryan are continuing to insist, however, that the body shown them was not that of Ryan, and that the medical authorities at the hospital were trying to play off strange corps on them.

The mortuary records show that Ryan's body was sent to the Beaumont Medical College.

CALLED FOR HELP.

Partot Cries for His Protector as a Thief Opens the Cages.
From the Chicago Herald.

"Mary, come and get your sweetheart. Mary, come and get your sweetheart. Oh, dear, dear Mary, why don't you come to your sweetheart?"

These cries were shrieked out Thursday night in front of Mrs. A. B. Bickel's house, 613 Adams street. Mary is a servant employed by Mrs. Bickel. The sweetheart that yearned and called to her presence was a South American green parrot. Of all the members of the household none thought so much of "sweetheart" as did Mrs. Bickel. Mrs. Bickel had entombed his cage and had him to the sunshine and brought it in again in the evening. Mary also had few better words than the parrot's. In the morning, when the 11 o'clock arrived—time to get lunch ready—and announced visitors at the door.

It was a tattered bird, with the heavy fall in gold premium checking the exports. The parrot, however, was a good specimen, and was making the final stages of the corn yield only 1,118,000,000 bushels, or 20,000,000 bushels, a decrease of 168,000 bushels. Corn acreage increased last week 273,000 bushels and is now 8,223,000 bushels, against 8,000,000 bushels in the last year.

The Australasians have an agent passing through all the great grain-producing countries of the Western Hemisphere with the idea that if their system of raising and gathering grain crops cannot be improved, less attention will in future be given to grain cultivation and more to the increase of animal husbandry.

The world's crop of potatoes is the largest food crop grown.

Last year, out of a total of about 8,000,000,000 bushels raised, Germany grew about 2,000,000,000 bushels.

The general deficiency of the crop at home and abroad, careful estimates make the demand for wheat and flour for home consumption increased here within a small margin, but closed rather firmly.

Wheat—A slight and feeble show of strength at the opening soon went out of sight again, and the market was quiet, with the price of 52c. per bushel.

A decline was all, however, and later the market became stronger, though unsettled time prevailed. The receiver from the bottom was 52c. per bushel, and the market was up high Saturday.

The first Liverpool cables were weaker and reflected a large degree. This latter, with the advance in corn, is what gave the market some strength at the opening. This was, however, not enough to sustain prices and, with 52c. per bushel, the market was again quiet.

The market, in sympathy with corn, had gone up from 52c. per bushel to 53c. per bushel.

Wheat—A slight and feeble show of strength at the opening soon went out of sight again, and the market was quiet, with the price of 52c. per bushel.

The only buyers were shorts, though there was no much real sale.

GREAT WHITE SPIRIT CO.

May become a King of both the Whisky and Sugar Trusts.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—A Wall street news agency, aluding to the newly organized Great White Spirit Co. of New York, says that the corporation is likely to become a rival of the American Sugar Refining Co. (Sugar Trust) as well as of the Whisky Trust.

The plan is to adopt the German and French method of refining sugar and making spirits in practically the same plant. The sugar is refined from beet juice, and the spirits are made from the syrups and refuse. The cost of sugar is already over 10,000 tons of syrup to be put through this process. It is alleged to be the purpose of the new concern to reverse that condition and import syrups from Europe in tank steamers.

OUTSIDE PAUPERS.

St. Louis Still Being Made a Refuge for Them.

The neglect to enforce the ordinance, which provides that officers of railroad companies which bring indigent persons into the city shall be punished, is filling the city institutions with paupers.

The case of Joseph Bowen, who is at the City Hospital, furnishes a striking example of the result of the laxity of the Health Department. It is alleged that the authorities at Hot Springs, Ark., fearing that Bowen might become a charge upon the city would have to support him purchased a ticket and had him sent to St. Louis.

At the Union Station he was found to be in a helpless condition and was without money or friends. He was taken to the station and then to the police station, where he was sent to the City Hospital. Bowen said that he had lived in Hot Springs for some time and that he had been a pauper there, and that he went there from West Superior, Wis. Dr. Heine Marks says that if something is not done soon the hospital will be overburdened with paupers, and that there are many denizens of St. Louis, and who have no claim, charitable or otherwise, upon the city.

AGAIN BEHIND THE BARS.

Manuel Strait, the Trusty, Who Released Three Prisoners.

FATIGUE, Mo., Oct. 29.—Manuel Strait, the negro trusty who released the three prisoners from the county jail here last Thursday afternoon, was brought back Saturday night and placed behind the bars. He had gone to the home of Don Price, north of Glasgow, for protection, and was brought here secretly to prevent a mob from dealing summarily with him.

This was the second time that Strait had gone to the home of Price for protection, and the negro trusty, who is a member of the Strait says that Huffman, the desperate train robber, offered him $500 to release him. He bridled the sheriff's two horses and had the negro trusty release him, and then stole the keys and the Sheriff's revolver and released Huffman, Kelly and Neff.
